Parent(s) must provide this completed form along with an affidavit that explains where they resided in 2025, the dates they resided in Canada and/or outside of Canada, and why they had no income in 2025. Persons registered under the Indian Act may provide a letter from a Band Council official in lieu of an affidavit.

Note: As applicable, individuals with a Social Insurance Number (SIN) not filing taxes must include the reason for not filing taxes. This could include reason(s) for not being in Canada, and confirmation of residential ties to Canada or another country (for example, lease agreement, mortgage documents, or utility bills) as part of their documentation. Individuals who did not file taxes because they did not have a SIN must provide evidence of when they came to Canada and/or when they were issued a SIN. Additional information may not be required for individuals registered under the Indian Act.

DefinitionsAffidavit

An "affidavit" is a sworn document that is signed before a lawyer, a commissioner of oaths (who may not be a lawyer), or a notary public, swearing or affirming that the contents of the affidavit are true. A commissioner of oaths is generally available at community legal clinics, municipal or township offices, and law offices.

Canadian non-taxable income/foreign income includes the following:

- income earned in a country other than Canada (employment income, rental income or gains from investments);
- child support received;
- income earned on a First Nations Reserve in Canada;
- lottery winnings totalling over $3,600;
- gifts and inheritances totalling over $3,600;
- life insurance compensation;
- strike pay received from a union;
- interest, dividends or capital gains from a tax-free savings account (TFSA) or investments of any type (for example stocks, bonds or GICs) regardless of the original source of the income.
- settlements from lawsuits (entire amount for economic loss and portion for non-economic loss/pain and suffering/general damages over $100,000).
- long-term disability benefits not included in your Canadian taxable income;
- spouses and parents are expected to report scholarships as non-taxable income if the scholarships were not reported in Line 15000 on their income tax return.

Section D: Required documentationPart 1: Parent(s) Canadian non-taxable income was greater than zero.

Parent(s) must provide this completed form along with documents and/or statements issued by the agency, financial institution, organization or government department recording their 2025 Canadian non-taxable income. Documents must indicate the source and amount of income, and additional information below as applicable:

- If the Canadian non-taxable income is from child-support payments, parent(s) must also provide a copy of their separation agreement or court order detailing the amount and frequency of the support payments during the 2025 year.
- If the separation/divorce agreement or court order was dated more than one year ago, parent(s) may submit the outdated documentation along with confirmation of the payments received during the 2025 year.
- If the separation/divorce agreement or court order is not available, parent(s) must provide:
 - Documentation confirming the payments received in 2025 (e.g. bank statements, copies of void cheques) and one of the following:
 - a dated and signed letter from the payor confirming the value, reason and total for all payments made during the 2025 year; or
 - an affidavit (see definition below) from parent(s) confirming the value, reason and total for all payments received during the 2025 year.
- If the Canadian non-taxable income is from a scholarship or bursary, parent(s) must provide a copy of documents confirming the source and amount of the award (e.g. award notification, award funds transfer to their account).
- If parent(s) indicates 2025 income earned that is tax-exempt under the Indian Act, they must provide a copy of their 2025 T4 slip showing the amount in Box 71 or a letter from their employer (on the employer's letterhead) that specifies their total amount of 2025 income earned that is tax-exempt under the Indian Act. Self-employed individuals may provide the letter as their own employer, and must include an explanation that a letter from another employer is not available.

Part 2: Parent's foreign income (non-Canadian source) was greater than zero and not reported to CRA

Parent(s) must provide this completed form, along with the following documentation as applicable:

- Proof of their 2025 income from a foreign (non-Canadian) source with documentation issued by that country's government/tax agency. Working copies of tax documents and/or tax returns are not acceptable.
- Official documentation from their employer that specifies the gross income (before any deductions) received by parent(s) in 2025. The documentation must be on the employer's letterhead or other official format.

If the parent's 2025 foreign income is from self-employment, investments, rental income or other means, the parent must provide documentation confirming the source and amount of the income. Acceptable documentation could include bank statements, letter(s) from a financial representative, lease agreements, and/or proof of rent income. This applies only if the parent is living outside of Canada and has not claimed their 2025 income to CRA.

If the parent(s) is unable to provide the documentation by the deadline listed on page 1, they can submit an affidavit that includes the following:

- The reason(s) why they are unable to provide the required documentation.
- The amount(s), currency and source(s) of their 2025 foreign income.
